Illinois Association of County Officials

"...improving the quality of public service through education."

Welcome to the 2024 Fall Conference!

We have an exciting time planned for YOU as we educate, communicate, collaborate, and celebrate over the next few days. The agenda is full of topics that are relevant to our personal and professional lives. The exhibit hall is sold out with a record number of 9 platinum sponsors and many fine exhibitors who are here to showcase their services. We are also going to close a chapter with the retirement of our IACO Administrator Tamiko Kinkade and start a new chapter with Pivot Management Professionals. I hope you will join me for Tuesday evenings President's Banquet. We will honor our County Official of The Year, install our 2025 IACO Officers, and be entertained by the captivating and interactive musical talent of Felix and Fingers Dueling Pianos. Come with your music requests in mind.

County Government services are essential in creating healthy, safe, and vibrant communities. We support and maintain public assets, keep residents healthy, ensure public safety, maintain public information, keep legal records, coordinate elections, and many other vital services. Counties are also an instrumental player in the intergovernmental collaboration of federal, state, and local governments. We collaborate to help implement a wide variety of services and programs in a cost effective and efficient manner. Our role in the woven fabric of our communities is significant. That is why IACO is so important.

Serving as your IACO president over the last year has been a true honor. Thank you for giving me the opportunity. With that said, always remember how important you are in your role. Be brave! And when you don't feel it, put on your shark fins and act like it! As A.A. Milne said through the voice of Winnie the Pooh, YOU are braver than you believe, strong than you seem, smarter than you think, and loved more than you'll ever know.

The best is yet to come!

Rebecca McNeil, President 2024

KEEPING POLITICS OUT OF YOUR GOVERNMENT JOB

Speaker: Elizabeth Johnston, LCSW, Center for Healing and Wellness, PLLC, McLean County Board Member

We are living in a time where working in a government space has become complicated. The pressures employees face, at the hands of political partisanship, can create an extremely uncomfortable work environment. Recognizing that although these two arms are inextricably linked, there are self-care techniques that can help cut through toxicity and improve your well-being in the office.

Speaker: Elizabeth Johnston is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker who graduated from the Louisiana State University with her Master's in Social Work. She is currently running a private practice after years in Community Mental Health and Integrated Behavioral Health. She specializes in interventions for anxiety, depression, grief, and a variety of behavioral issues including addictions. She also volunteers at Integrity Counseling where clients pay-what-they-can for counseling sessions and taught an advanced practice course at the ISU School of Social Work as an adjunct instructor for 4 years. She started a second small business last year, shifting into the growing field of behavioral finance as an Investment Advisor. She also serves as the vice chair of the McLean County Board and understands the pressures faced by civil servants in today's tense atmosphere. At home, Elizabeth enjoys family downtime with her husband, their two wonderful children, and two adorable (but mischievous) dogs.
